

West Virginia Was Not For Sale...Again

Below is a statement from WV Democratic Party Chairman Larry Puccio on Governor Earl Ray Tomblin's victory today.

"Twice in eleven months, the people of West Virginia have said 'no' to big money from out-of-state trying to buy an election. They have made it clear that our great state of West Virginia is not for sale.

There is no one that I know of that is better prepared to continue the progress West Virginia has made than Governor Earl Ray Tomblin. And I congratulate him on his victory tonight.

Our staff and volunteers continue to prove that we are committed to winning elections by earning them with hard work. It is so impressive to know that they have made more than 235,000 live person-to-person calls in this election. It has shown that they are dedicated and committed citizens of West Virginia and I thank them."
