DEMO MEMO

The West Virginia Young Democrats are pleased to announce that former first daughter Chelsea Clinton will speak during the organization's convention kick-off event at 5:00 this Friday evening at the Charleston Civic Center (Room 202). The Young Dems already have a very exciting lineup of speakers throughout the convention, and the addition of Chelsea Clinton will make the weekend truly unforgettable. The kick-off event is free and open to the public. The complete agenda for the weekend is available on the WVYD website at www.wvyoungdems.org.

Tickets are still available for Saturday night's convention keynote dinner with Christine Pelosi. Members of the general public who are not Young Dems can purchase a ticket for the Pelosi dinner for $50 each by contacting Kanawha Valley Young Democrats President Travis Mollohan at 304-345-2794 or tmollohan@hotmail.com. Complimentary tickets have already been mailed to all WVYD Jennings Randolph Society members. Of course, those Young Dems registered for the convention will be admitted to the Pelosi keynote dinner for free.
